

We are pleased to inform you that the convention industry's most prominent client survey recently recognized San Diego as the very best city in North America for conventions and meetings. Specifically, the survey distinguished our city for having the:

Best Convention Center in North America,
Best Convention & Visitors Bureau,
Best Hotel Package

Any one of these four honors is an incredible accomplishment. The fact that San Diego received all of this recognition is testament to our incredible teamwork as a destination.

Click here for a summary copy of the Watkins Research Group survey which was conducted earlier this year. The study is considered the most prominent, comprehensive and authoritative product of its kind in the convention and meeting industry.

The survey results were also a wake-up call that we can't rest long on our laurels. The competition has us within their cross-hairs; San Diego is now on everyone's list of cities to beat.

Congratulations for this recognition. We greatly value your contributions to making San Diego the country's leading conventions and meetings destination. But know that we will also look to you for your continued leadership so that we can sustain this distinction.

Sincerely,

Reint Reinders
President & CEO
San Diego Convention & Visitors Bureau

Carol Wallace
President & CEO
San Diego Convention Center Corporation

